

Special Public Monograph

A ESSAY ON RELIGION, GREEN ENERGY, DEMOCRACY

How an Underlying Energy Connects all Beings

PROPOSAL: A MODEL OF EDUCATION FOR A NEW ERA

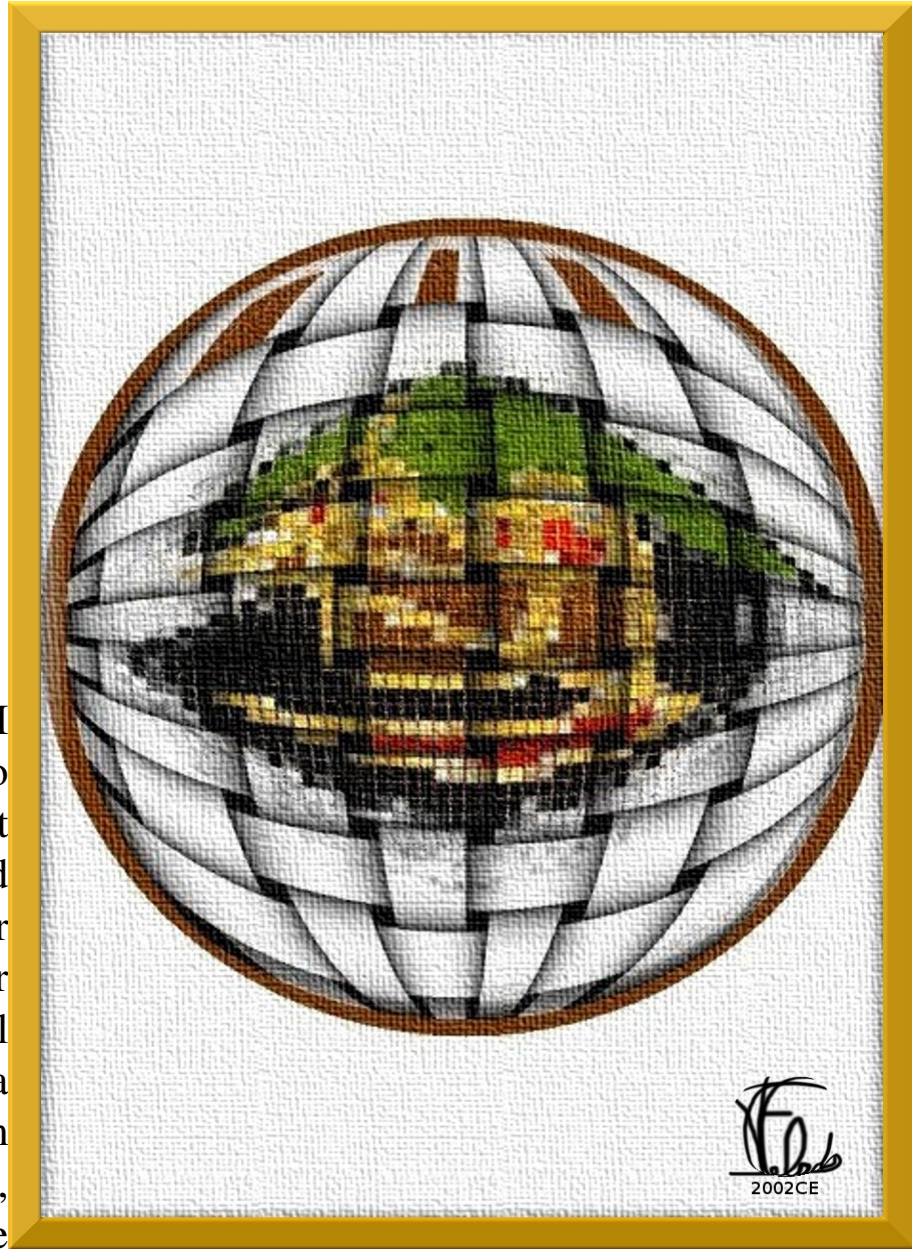

by Ian Pfremmer (*)

“The only form of government to rule our democracy should be the philosopher-king of Plato’s Republic, but with each country nominating their own philosopher-king, and said person has to pass a vote by the rest of the democracies that participate in said world government.”

*“Globalization (or Earth is a Chip)”
Frater Velado, 2002CE*

Abstract

HELLO my sisters and brothers, I would like to extend my deepest appreciation and gratitude for keeping the inner light of us all going! I am not a member, but I am still a learner, searching for the logos, energia, qi, prana, akasha, or the true light, the energy that connects us all, from the lowliest flower shining in a field of green grass to the leader of the free world. I hope to explain and expound on some of the questions in the Summum Bonum that I stumbled upon. And in this essay, I will try and show how an underlying energy connects all beings, and how this energy is being studied and developed in a wide variety of fields, societies, and groups of average people like me. I hope this helps anyone and everyone!

1. Religion

I THINK it is possible to extend a safety net, or government, over peoples of the Earth, but a commonality is needed, such as the energy that is shared by all religions, whether it be the one religion of Akhenaton, logos of Thales of Miletia and Heraclitus, the Theos of our Judeo-Christian origin, the shared unconscious of Jung, akasha and the Akasha Record, Hindu's prana, Carlos Castaneda's energetic egg that is told by Thoth to be "bound by the ether coalesced around", the nous, the Monad, the Lightbody, chakras, the state of Nirvana, Plato's Sophia, the Energia of the Arabs, Thoth and his search for the Light and the Law in his saying "Know, O man, that Light is thine heritage. Know that darkness is only a veil. Sealed in thine heart is brightness eternal, waiting the moment of freedom to conquer, waiting to rend the veil of the night". Or as William Blake puts it in the Marriage of Heaven and Hell, "Energy is the Eternal Delight." Energy connects us all, and modern science readily admits that each being gives off an electromagnetic signature that can be measured and quantified.

Also in science we have many wonderful seekers of this "God", from Einstein to Pythagoras and all in between, even such giants like Stephen Hawking readily acknowledges a connection between everything, and this can be seen in the Dirac Sea theory, Zero Point Energy, the String Theory, and of course the Large Hadron Collider and CERN in areas like the Higgs boson particle.

This energy is a physical phenomenon that can be measured, seen, and tapped, as the great prophets of the ages have done. It can be seen in Mozart's piano, in Da Vinci and Albrecht Durer's brushwork, in the Golden Ratio of a flower petal and the Prime Numbers of Pythagoras, to the beauty of the works of all the prophets. It can be seen in the relationship to religious centers like churches and mosques, and how these spiritual areas work themselves out on a map in a sequence eerily similar to the Fibonacci spirals and other logarithmic equations. Noetics, biokinetics, biophotonic research, keylontics, quantum mechanics, yoga, meditation, and a variety of metaphysical, esoteric, and mathematical fields are working on a way of proving this energy exists, such as the exact weight every person loses immediately upon death, the higgs-boson particle, the string theory, and many other areas of research looking for the energy, i.e. Soul/energy.

I am working on a book, with a friend Matt Thompson, to prove this theory by using a three dimensional matrix format to show how each area connects to the other, ultimately connect to each other through a “mother/home” matrix similar to the divine body template, including a chaos matrix as well as a unifying matrix, to show the polarity of each being. I am working with Bernhard Reimann and David Suzuki, and some of their hypotheses. With this and other research, we can hopefully break the dogma that we are different, from physical to religious, but in truth we are all the same energy, searching for the same knowledge to lead us together.

With the problems worldwide economically as well as religiously, a unifying connection is the ultimate solution, basically a reason for us to get along. This could also be seen in the formation of the European, North American (NAFTA), and Asian Unions, although we here in the U.S. like to be backwards and unprogressive, the collapse of the stock market and environmental destructions could unify the majority to have a safeguard, such as the World Bank has done, to protect ourselves, well, from ourselves!

2. Green Energy, Democracy

THE SECOND question is starting to resolve itself, from the worlds shift to renewable and resource saving green energy, to the United Nations world food program. We have the instruments to equip the world with what it needs, and the main one is food and water. People can survive being poor, impoverished, and depressed of liberty and faith, but they will kill for food and water. If we make a universal account to save up for food programs to rid the world of starvation, all we need is guilt. We can force people such as Warren Buffett, Oprah Winfrey, and Bill Gates to go ahead with a small factor such as tax breaks to all the wealthy if they donate a certain amount for the pool. Maybe have Hollywood and professional sports put aside 10% of their money into a pool to help with food and water. But bad publicity can do this as well if suggestions do not work. The spoken word has more power than most think.

Of course the cyclical problem is the worst, because it has to deal with the human being's problem of being stubborn. We have to look at the totality of history to see what problems reoccur, and implement measures such as bills in democracies to address the situation, and have a one year time limit to implement the fix, or said person loses their seat in office, no matter. We have to be stringent when it comes to our future. One force or another has ruled us since the dawn of time, from Pharaohs to commodity brokers, and we have to implement procedures to insure a global community, to hopefully insulate our future from endless cycles of hatred, oppression, and ignorance. We need to bring the ideals of the great leaders, of love and life, and the knowledge that we are truly gods, that we have the same power inside of us that all of the great masters had. "As above, so below".

The only form of government to rule our democracy should be the philosopher-king of Plato's Republic, but with each country nominating their own philosopher-king, and said person has to pass a vote by the rest of the democracies that participate in said world government. If countries do not want to involve themselves, then people of the other countries have to infiltrate said countries to promote education and voting democracies, even if a life depends on it. We can't rely on isolation anymore, for we need to be unified no matter the cost. A life is worth the resurrection of Enlightenment, and if needed, I would gladly give my own life to see it fulfilled. We have as a people died for centuries to make sure the power stays in the minority, and the power truly rests in the majority, if they are only led properly and lovingly to truth and compassion. An equal representation of the Nations is the only way to stay away from tyranny and we need no more tyranny.

The civil liberties of people are the utmost importance when deliberating a world constitution, for freedom is the greatest key to our survival. Strict penalties, such as life imprisonment, would be handed down to those who usurp the law, with no opinions of local magistrates to weigh down the purpose of unity. There will be no death penalty, but the imprisoned will do labor that helps our companies in any way needed. Strict separation of “church/religion” and state is a must. We are the same pulsating species and we will live and die together, not separated by bigotry, ideology, or plain lies.

3. A Model of Education

A MODEL of education would have to be modeled of most democratic countries, but without the stigma of religion or any other distraction. Children will learn, for free, history (all history of each continent), math, writing, three languages, and all major religions, to keep the strand of unity tight in their minds, to show how each are interrelated and interchangeable. Music will also be a must, for the mind has many levels to learn, and many senses to learn from. A precise, mathematical piano sonata shows beauty like no other, reaching the mind in ways the imagination cannot. Physical fitness will also be a must, as well as proper diet. School will be mandatory until the age of 22. Instead of the media pushing new products, terrible food, or hate speeches, they will be used only as factual or learning tools, such as showing the constitution or astronomy on a certain channel.

Media must be regulated!! I know this sounds tyrannical in terms of the media, but we all know the media is the greatest social tool in history. It is now being used for opinions, but that has to be replaced by fact. The media will go through the council of philosophers, a council of each field, such as math, science, religion, history, and such, and this will have to be agreed upon before any idea being used as a learning apparatus. No longer can we let our children roam through life worrying about what type of jean to wear, we need to combine our respective powers to better our species and every species on our planet.

Conclusion

WITH this model of education and hopefully life, each person is left to understand the Mysteries as they unfold for them, as they always do. Once they are shown each field in its fullest, then they should be educated enough to understand and gravitate towards like minds and like ideals, which we see in our society rising more and more everyday. I hope in my essay to show that we are all on a search for enlightenment, whether it be a small insect or Isaac Newton, and I also hope that some questions can be made and answered with some of my ideas. And in the future I will keep exploring and writing, as I hope everyone does to their own life, or “Know Thyself”. But the most important thing is to stay positive and reinforce love and unity as much as possible, because that is the ultimate goal, to unify with love!

May, 2010CE (6249 AFK)

Ian

EDITOR'S NOTES:

(*) Ian Pfremer aka Echelard (photo at left) is a graduate of the University Of Northern Iowa with a B.A. in English and Creative Writing and Poetry. He hopes of attending the University of Nevada-Las Vegas to get his Masters in Creative Writing. Ian have been working on becoming a student of the Ancient Mysteries in hopes of a unification of our species and the search for knowledge.

Ordo Illuminati Aegyptiorum

Monograph published by IOK with OpenOffice.org 3.0

Linux Ubuntu 9.10 The Karmic Koala – Gnome 2.28.1

Released on May 6249 AFK (2010CE)

For Svmmvm Bonvm University:

<http://svmmvmbonvm.org/usb.htm>

Free distribution permitted